

Under the Educational Programme of Cera, currently 1540 children are enrolled from various schools in and around Kadi and Kundal villages. Owing to the digital needs for today's generation, CERA has donated 125 computers to various schools.

Like “Kaushalya Vardhan Kendra”, Cera Foundation also believes in enhancing life of women through skill development and vocational training programmes which includes stitching, beauty parlor, hand embroidery, cookery, computer, english speaking etc. Currently 204 women are undergoing these courses.

20 women are trained in basic knowledge under the “Divya Nagari - A Great Transformation Project” organised by Brahma Kumaris to transform the lives of children from the slum areas. Currently 150 children are enrolled under this program at Kadi.

Women from remote villages are trained to produce and distribute low cost sanitary napkins. Under this program, lady supervisors/workers educate the needy and poor women about the hygiene and its role for a better life.

CERA foundation is about to successfully complete the development of Bhagyoday Hospital that will support majority of lower and middle earned public in and around Kadi.

CERA provides expert lectures, plant visits, training program for the students enrolled in Diploma in Ceramic Technology. The course is associated with BVOC program at SV College.

Around 200 children at Bhavpura centre and 400 from other schools performed yoga on the International Yoga Day. On the eve of National Environment Day, children at Divyanagri took out rally to spread the importance of saving trees. They also planted a few plants.

A medical camp was organised for the children studying in Coaching Centre of Jain boarding, Bhavpura in which a total of 300 students were examined for their physical fitness and were also educated on symptoms and remedies of swine flu.